

Program

Friday, September 1 2017:

13:00-13:15	Welcome and Introduction
13:15-14:30	Thomas Sturm: "Ideal versus bounded norms in the psychology of human reasoning: Contradictory or complementary?"
14:30-14:45	Coffee Break
14:45-16:00	Christine Tiefensee: "Can we gain normative insights from empirical findings?"
16:00-16:15	Coffee Break
16:15-17:30	Annika Wallin: "Why normative theories are useless without descriptive content"
19:30	Dinner

Saturday, September 2 2017

09:30-10:45	Stefan Heidl: „Ought implies Can and pragmatic justification“
10:45-11:00	Coffee Break
11:00-12:15	Natalie Gold: "Framing, Reasons, and Rationality: the inter-play of descriptive theories of decision-making and normative theories of rationality"
12:15-14:15	Lunch
14:15-15:30	Catherine Herfeld: "The Many Faces of Rational Choice Theory"
15:30-15:45	Coffee Break
15:45-17:00	Robert Sugden: "Does normative economics need a theory of rationality?"
17:15-17:30	Coffee Break
17:30-18:45	Andrea Polonioli: „Arguments and Challenges for a Theory of Adaptive Rationality"
20:00	Dinner

Sunday, September 3 2017

09:30-10:45	Shira Elqayam: "Grounded rationality: A descriptivist theory of rationality in context"
10:45-11:00	Coffee Break
11:00-12:15	Gerhard Schurz: "Cognitive Success: The interplay of descriptive and normative aspects in theories of rationality"